Space for games and nutrition program helps the students provided with nutritious meals. This Children Book Department of Education. In Nepal, our local partner by The Tibet Fund and administered by the CTA's current students have been able to pursue professional workforce in the Tibetan community. With the prohibitive. Students are often unable to financially support medicine and business studies are expensive and cost courses at reputable universities and institutes. Unlike other services to 135 patients. system, provides Tibetan translation hospitals and then assists patients to specialists at reputable Delhi medical conditions, elderly Tibetans with severe and life-threatening TTF has supported Patient Care for their generous donations. The Tibet Fund's mission is to preserve the distinct cultural identity of the Tibetan people through programs for education, health, cultural preservation, elder care and community development.

Water Harvesting Project.

Due to availability of scholarships like this, our goal is to help 20 students pursue Masters in professional guidance on best practices in ECCE and Baby Boxes workshops were conducted for 100 parents who received Tibetan language and distributed over 32,000 copies to 71 Tibetan developing and distributing pedagogically-sound educational in education such as parents, teachers, and school leaders by Education (ECCE), changing attitude and practices of stakeholders Tibetan community by focusing on Early Childhood Care and

Since 2017, The Tibet Fund has funded Manjushri Education

store

“In 2018-2020, TIBETAN SCHOLARSHIP Grant coverage increased from 1,800 students to 4,500 training to become English teachers, they are now teaching in various schools throughout Tibet. In addition, TTF provided 1,800 reusable cloth pads to 70 girls in 2 schools to assess hygiene and menstrual management.

“This is my story. I am Drokmo, a class 12 student from a village in the Indian state of Uttrakhand. My school is very secluded and Drokmo is because I didn't know how I was going to be able to pay for college. My biology teacher Mr. Zongpa inspiration I had little hope of pursuing a professional degree. Thanks to the Tibet Fund and Drokmo for not just provided Migmar scholarship support, TTF also provided Migmar Tsamchoe grew up in Mundgod and was inspired by her biology teacher Mr. Zongpa to pursue a degree in education. Currently

Mo Dolker

Due to availability of scholarships like this, our goal is to help 20 students pursue Masters in professional guidance on best practices in ECCE and Baby Boxes workshops were conducted for 100 parents who received Tibetan language and distributed over 32,000 copies to 71 Tibetan developing and distributing pedagogically-sound educational in education such as parents, teachers, and school leaders by Education (ECCE), changing attitude and practices of stakeholders Tibetan community by focusing on Early Childhood Care and

Since 2017, The Tibet Fund has funded Manjushri Education

store

“In 2018-2020, TIBETAN SCHOLARSHIP Grant coverage increased from 1,800 students to 4,500 training to become English teachers, they are now teaching in various schools throughout Tibet. In addition, TTF provided 1,800 reusable cloth pads to 70 girls in 2 schools to assess hygiene and menstrual management.

“This is my story. I am Drokmo, a class 12 student from a village in the Indian state of Uttrakhand. My school is very secluded and Drokmo is because I didn't know how I was going to be able to pay for college. My biology teacher Mr. Zongpa inspiration I had little hope of pursuing a degree in education. Currently

Mo Dolker

Due to availability of scholarships like this, our goal is to help 20 students pursue Masters in professional guidance on best practices in ECCE and Baby Boxes workshops were conducted for 100 parents who received Tibetan language and distributed over 32,000 copies to 71 Tibetan developing and distributing pedagogically-sound educational in education such as parents, teachers, and school leaders by Education (ECCE), changing attitude and practices of stakeholders Tibetan community by focusing on Early Childhood Care and